I WAS TRAPPED . .

. . in the suffocating depths of the earth.

WHAT HORROR!

Was that my voice screaming . . whimpering . . imploring? I was sorry that I had not been taken by THEM before—because this was the worst way of all! . .

AND THEN I SAW IT!

Nothing in Heaven or Hell—and certainly nothing on earth—can equal the detailed spectres of horror and terror portrayed in these pages by H. P. Lovecraft.
